IN BRIEF

Open Housing, Taxes Wait Action By Legislators

By United Press International

SPRINGFIELD, Major bills of the 1967 legislative session including taxes and "open housing" — will confront Illinois lawmakers when they return from their holiday weekends Wednesday.

Gov. Warren's proposal to extend the 10-cent sales tax to virtually all goods and services was posted for the Senate revenue committee Thursday.

Committee Chairman Sen. Hudson R. Smith (R., Peoria) indicated a rough time for the tax plan, which Kerner said would provide $685 million more for the state during the next two years and with the government in the black.

The Senate revenue and judiciary committee will take up "open housing" Wednesday. Sen. Frank M. O'Brien (R.-Evergreen Park), chairman of that committee, would call for a vote on pending "open housing" legislation introduced in the Senate at the Wednesday session.

THE BIG test before the committee will be the reception it gives an amendment offered by Senate Republican leader W. Russell Arlington, Evanston. Arlington's amendment would require an entire bill filed by Democratic Sen. Cyril A. Parris, Chicago.

Those bills dealing with "open housing" also were still alive.

Proposed increases in the gasoline tax and in auto and truck taxes, with no immediate action scheduled, it is expected that the bills would be amended extensively to order to pass the House.

The Senate appropriations committee approved, 14-1, Wednesday a proposal to fund a $14 billion bond issue to finance a statewide system of toll roads, and the Senate majority leader said this was an alternative to higher gas taxes and license fees.

Veterans of Eight Wars Are Buried in the Area

BY RICHARD CRABB

Revolutionary War veterans buried in the Arlington Heights-Memorial Park area are buried in the Arlington Heights-Memorial Park area. The area is a small private cemetery on Arlington Heights Rd., just south of the Chicago-Rockland Rd. intersection. The cemetery was not important that the tollroad route was moved north to honor the memory of the war.

The Revolutionary War veterans buried there are Aaron Miner, for whose son Arlington Heights's Mier was named.

Memorial Day services honoring the nation's war dead will be held Tuesday at Memorial Park, Chicago, under sponsorship of the Arlington Heights Veterans of War of 1812.

Green Beret Wins Silver Star Award

The Silver Star, one of the country's highest military honors, was awarded recently to Sgt. Bruce E. Franch of Mount Prospect for heroism in action in Vietnam.

Franch, 20, received the award for saving another soldier's life in a helicopter crash landing near enemy fire Nov. 3, 1965, while saving a fellow soldier. The award was presented by the commanding general of the U.S. Special Forces in Vietnam at Ft. Bragg, N.C., earlier this month.

THE OFFICIAL U.S. Army Headquarters report describes Franch's actions as follows: "While three men were reported missing after an evacuation aircraft and left the landing zone, Sgt. Although Viet Cong fire was intense, he calmly attempted to support it while still in the area, which was still burning from air strikes."

Franch was cited by another pilot and Franch's helicopter volunteered to make the landing zone safe.

Gripe Of The Day

By Jack Cope

His name was Charlie and he said he was coming from the Italian front. He stopped at Mount Prospect.

Others looked for friends and relatives in the parade, which included 54 units, many representing youth groups and civic organizations in the village.

Excited youngsters waved flags and looked eagerly up the street for the next marching band or the next float.

The parade was sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 981.

Color guards from several branches of the armed forces and veteran organizations drove up the parade route.

The parade ended at Memorial Park, where the mood quieted.

Funeral Pyre

A contraption so twisted that an Arlington Heights police officer wouldn't even try to describe it was used to create a funeral pyre Sunday for a fourteen-year-old boy who died of a heart ailment.

De Robert Balfour, 112 N. Stratford, reported to police that he had seen a couple of teenagers burn his garage and later saw flames. When he went to investigate, he found the "funeral pyre."

Police are holding the remains of the alligator, possibly because they hope the alligator will return to claim it.

Juniors Enjoy Hawaiian Holiday

BY MARYLYN HELLERS

The Chaldean Room of the Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club was transformed into Hawaii for an evening as the Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club held their annual spring banquet.

Tropical fruits and flowers decorated the tables and the inviting scented potpourri set the scene for the authentic Hawaiian food that was served. Fresh orchid centerpieces and bright colored lanterns were by the chaperones added to the evening's lighting, planned by Mrs. Allen Brown and her committee.

NEW CLUB officers were installed during the traditional candlelight ceremony by Mrs. Ben Carme, director of 7th Dist. Mrs. Ray Crouch, public relations, 1st vice president; Mrs. John Ostermeyer, director; Mrs. Thomas Oleson, recording secretary; Mrs. Richard Gustafson, membership chairman and Mrs. Weller.

Busch, ways and means chairman.

Appointed to the board by Mrs. Crouch are Mrs. Bryan Dickas, program chairman; Mrs. Norman Walk, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Albert Katz, bulletin chairman; Mrs. Robert Fletcher, publicity chairman. Also serving on the board will be Mrs. Scott Bell, second vice president; Mrs. Leslie Graham, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Robert Chadderdon, treasurer.

Mrs. John Norenberg served as master of ceremonies and called the club "Arlington Heights Junior A-Go-Go" because of their "on the go" motto this year. The club contributed $2450 to 12 people and agencies during the year and provided service to the community through a baby-sitting clinic; reading at the public library and at Headstart classes; helping with the Over-50 Club; youth work and sending packages to local soldiers serving in Viet Nam.

TWO CLUB members, Mrs. Richard Gustafson and Mrs.

Robert Nison, received awards for the highest number of hours given in service by members from Mrs. Scott Bell, 2nd vice president. Forty-seven club members spent more than 50 hours each in club projects. Guests for the evening were introduced by Mrs. George Behrens, outgoing president. They included: Mrs. Ben Carme, director of 7th district; Mrs. Malvin Levert, 7th district director; Mrs. Gordon Gulickson, junior advisor for the Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club; Mrs. Henry Ohman, 7th district home life chairman; and Mrs. Robert Fletcher, 7th district junior ways and means chairman.

SUMMER activities scheduled for the juniors include a golf outing for husbands and wives on June 11, under the direction of Mrs. Sam Polanski and a family picnic at Holiday Park on June 25 with Mrs. Paul Gustafson as chairman. The next board meeting will be June 8 at the home of Mrs. Robert Harsh.

Donald Berenbaum R.P.

In an age as we are, where antibiotics are increasing stature in the medical field, we might point out that antibiotics is not far distant in time as many might imagine. The word itself was coined by a French physician, Villeneuve in 1889; and Pasteur, as a matter of interest, flirted with the idea of antibiotics while working with ANTH-RACIS 1877.

In whole, an antibiotic is a substance produced by one living organism for the destruction of another. Here at ENDLER'S PHARMACY the latest in modern drugs and medication are always available. For all years needed to medical supply only.

Motorists Here Strong For Tollway Interchange

BY ELIZABETH ALANNE
The campaign for a tollway interchange at Arlington Heights, Ill., gathered momentum yesterday when results of a survey indicated overwhelming motorist approval of the project and a potential $233,915 annual increase in toll revenue.

Extending the figures to estimate the response of all motorists would place the interchange in the top 10 percent of all proposed interchanges.

ILLINOIS Tollway Commission is in its last meeting June 30. COPIES of the report due are being sent to State Senator John A. Graham and Representatives Eugene Chappuis and Eugene Schmale. The report will be presented to the tollway interchange at Arlington Heights Rd.

Continuing growth of the Arlington Heights Elk Grove Village area would also produce increased toll revenue, Larson said. He said an interchange at Arlington Heights Rd. would probably also be used by some drivers from adjacent towns.

Armed with this information, the tollway study committee plans to present the report and a preliminary engineering study to the Illinois Tollway Commission.

IN A SEPARATE industrial survey of 36 local industries employing 2,538 persons, Larson said 68 percent of the employees indicated they would use the tollway more often if there were an interchange at Arlington Heights Rd. Only 17 percent of the employees surveyed said they used the tollway now.

Meadows' Firemen Go Full-Time From Now On

BY RAY MILLER

For the first time in its history, Rolling Meadows today had full-time firemen on the job. Three men—Thomas J. Fogarty, Paul Hoffman and William Kuehler—have been hired by the Rolling Meadows Fire Protection District at a starting annual salary of $6,000.

THE EVENT WAS extremely significant for Fogarty, who was named the new department's acting chief by the district's trustees. Fogarty has been chief of the volunteer department nine years, and a member since its establishment twelve years ago. A special Youth Service Award was presented to Howard Gibson, faculty advisor, for his outstanding efforts and support to the Key Club.

For the past five years he has been an outspoken advocate of establishment of a full-time department. "I've been after this for five years," Fogarty said. "I have been getting harder and harder to obtain volunteers. I know we had to start planning for a full-time department."

FOGARTY and his two men were selected on the basis of competitive examinations administered by the district's fire commission. Although full-time was a chief advocate for establishment of the full-time department, and appointed to be the most highly qualified of the applicants, he had to take the written and oral tests the same as the others.

The trustees then appointed him acting chief. The two other hires were also members of the district's 26-man volunteer department. Hoffman has five years experience and Kuehler three years.

The men will be on duty from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. In addition to providing three readily-available firemen during the critical daytime hours when most volunteers are not available, they will provide needed continuity in other jobs.

FOGARTY said they will maintain the fire-fighting equipment and fire house and will work on the fire safety inspection program.

"I think that work on the fire-inspection program will be important," Fogarty said. "In the past we've had to conduct the inspection program when volunteers were available. Now we will be able to have continuous fire inspections."

Fogarty, in addition to being chief of the volunteers and acting chief of the full-time department, also is the city's fire marshal. The job recently took on new importance with the adoption by the city council of a new ordinance regarding fire safety.

FOGARTY SAYS he now is asking the city to adopt the more comprehensive National Fire Protection Association Safety Code. The department would have more importance to the inspection program.

Fogarty says the start of a full-time department would make a difference in the city's fire protection rating by the National Rating Bureau.

The city is due for a new rating this coming year, he said, and the addition of three full-time men could mean a higher rating, and lower cost of insurance.

Fogarty says the volunteer department probably will remain the backbone of the city's fire protection system "for at least the next five years."

BUT HE SAYS he hopes the trustees now will continue to add men to the new full-time department "each year from now on."

The trustees approved salary increases for the three men to $8,000 annually by the end of three years.

One Snag in Street Plan Report

BY JACK COPE

Fourteen months of preparation went into the comprehensive thoroughfare plan for Arlington Heights before it was finally submitted to the plan commission last night at municipal hall.

The plan ran into only one major snag last night. Mayor Accardo is the one of Mr. and Mrs. John Accardo of 306 E. Orchard.

Shuman also told the commission, "We plan to study the plan only for cars, but they create residential islands isolated from the flow of traffic."

Darcy Sullivan, member of the thoroughfare committee and a traffic expert, explained just what the comprehensive plan was for. "This is part of an overall plan for the entire metropolitan area of Chicago," he said.

Pipe Lines

Yesterday we wrote about how hundreds of people rushed to the aid of a little girl. Today we're asking your help for another one.

Dennis is 6 years old. She doesn't know much about pain, and so can't understand what all the fuss is about. The fact is about a dog that wandered into her yard in Arlington Heights last Saturday and bit her on the arm.

IF THE DOG isn't found by next Sunday, Dennis will have to wear a series of 15 ribben shots. The Shills and their doctor can't take the risk of not giving the shots, because if the dog was rabid, Dennis could become terribly ill—possibly fatally ill.

If the dog is found, though, it will be put under observation, and if it is not rabid, Dennis can go on about the business of growing up without going through the pain and unpleasant the shots will cause.

THE SHOTS are a bit more complicated than the rabben injections you get when you go into the army or go abroad. And they're much more painful. It's not fair that a little girl should have to take them simply because the dog's run and when it was draped up to her. The dog is sort of a spazzy-type animal, and Dennis is sure it was all one color—sort of a dirty blood color. It's out roaming around now, and it belongs to someone... it had a collar and a couple of tags.

If the dog is rabid, it will die eventually. If it is not, it will be returned to the owner with perhaps a word or two of advice about keeping it on a leash or behind a fence.

... by Bob Casterline

NEARLY EVERYONE loves dogs...they're supposed to be man's best friend and all that. Still, everyone knows ill dogs are much more important than dogs.

The police and Dennis's parents are looking for the dog. Any lead, no matter how small, is welcome.

So, if you think you know where the dog is, or where it can be found, why not give a little tip to the Arlington Heights Police or the Arlington Heights Police is handling the case.

"It all started when I stopped trying to prove something."

For Safer Highways

Bills have been introduced in the Illinois General Assembly calling for motor vehicle inspection and re-examination of drivers.

According to Secretary of State Paul Powell, these are two areas in which the state is lacking in order to satisfy minimum federal requirements which will determine how much federal money the state will get for highway construction and local highway safety programs.

We agree that federal funds are important to state highway programs, but we feel that a more important consideration is safety on our roads and highways.

The need for motor vehicle inspection was emphasized last summer when members of the secretary's staff conducted voluntary checks in 56 Illinois communities. Of the 18,453 cars checked, 50 per cent were rejected as unsafe because of one or more defects. The car owners who volunteered obviously were interested in their safety and the safety of others on the road. The percentage of unsafe cars would have been higher if the checks included car owners who do not care.

The driver re-examination proposals for re-examination every 10 years. Drivers licenses would be valid for five years, instead of the present three years, and the fee would be $10 instead of the present $3, with $7 going to the driver education fund.

Other measures introduced in the legislature include:

—establishment of a medical review board in the department of public health to consider driver license cases referred to it and recommend action to the Secretary of State.

—stricter controls over intoxicated drivers.

—motor licenses and examinations for motorcycles.

—safety equipment for motorcycles.

—required driver education for 16 and 17 year old license applicants.

—an increase in the state police.

We fully support the proposals for vehicle inspection and driver re-examination. In Ohio, safety checks are made periodically of all vehicles, including those of individuals. If a headlight, turn signal or windshield wiper does not work properly, a warning ticket is given to the driver; with the understanding that he will fix the auto as soon as possible. If it is not repaired, a fine is imposed.

We also feel that at least a simple eye test should not be out of order every 10 years.

All of the proposals would be better drivers and make our roads and highways safer for all.

Kerner Signs Regner Bill

Rep. David I. Regner, in his freshman year in the Illinois General Assembly, has already won one of the honors of which he was the chief sponsor written into law. He hopes to have the legislature repeat several times before the work of this General Assembly is completed in the summer. Regner is sponsor of nearly 30 bills.

Regner's first bill to become law requires the state to fund all general government units in state handling $100,000 in tax funds file an independent audit with the state.

Those governmental units sending in the audit and tax funds are required to file a special report annually.

Says Rep. Regner: "Our state government is tightly audited. I feel our local governments should be tightly audited just as easily. After all, local governments handle three times the amount of money spent by our state government."

SCORER of governmental units in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling and Evanston will be the Regner bills with the state under new Regner law. Since school districts get two-thirds of their own real state taxes, and in general, they are the largest handlers of tax money in the state.

For most of the large units in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling and Evanston, Regner law will actually amount to a simplification.

Previously these units have been required to report their expenditures by more complex procedures which required special work. Now they will merely file with the state a copy of their annual ing the annual audits some $5,000,000.

independent audits are a regular provision. The audit is true of the large school units in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling and Evanston.

214 whose headquarters are in Mount Prospect or Evanston. School District 25 in Arlington Heights.

This year will total approximately $5,000,000.

THE VILLAGE OF Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling and Evanston, motor fuel tax funds, sales tax and tax assessment funds. This year will total approximately $5,000,000.

Day Light

On Hill 881

BY RICHARD CRAIG

Last time we reported you on AN-DY'S FLOWERS, playing along some of the inspiration of a kid who is just turning five on such matters as flowers and water and trees and kites. Andy is a great kid. We are so glad that he lives next door. At times in days like these, we find ourselves wishing Andy could always remain just like this.

That is because it is actually such a short time ago that Dennis was Andy's age and took such an interest in the flowers and water and trees and kites. Now Dennis is grown tall and strong. He is in a place in South Viet Nam whose name I do not remember and certainly can't spell if I did. We just speak of the place as "south of the DMZ." Dennis left college and football to join the Marines, and requested assignment to Viet Nam. Went mostly because his brother was already there and somehow he felt he ought to go and help.

WITH ALL the action going on in Dennis's area these weeks just past, the whole neighborhood has been deeply concerned, wanting to hear something from Dennis and just figuring that as long as we did not hear anything the chances of good news in the end were perhaps the best. Still any mention of Hill 881 has been "off limits" until we were sure.

It isn't only the boys themselves who are deeply involved in these matters. It is their families, particularly the mothers who dread every mail and every ring of the phone, who time and time again have been the boys themselves. This is because the boys are the more or less at sea when things are quiet in their sector, but the families are not aware of the quiet times and have to be comforted while one of them is in an active war zone.

DANNY HAS always been good to write his mother. That's what made the "not hearing" so much more difficult for the family and the neighbors. Finally his letter came. He had been involved on the hill 881 fight and his conclusion: "guys someone is with me."

"Three days ago I could have written a glorious letter. Everything on operation was going as planned, and our squad was looking better than any other squad in the company. Then our company tried to take Hill 881 and we got wiped out. Better than 150 of us went up on 881, only 73 of us came back. There were thirty some killed, fifty more wounded and five to ten missing.

"I guess someone is with me because I was the only one in my squad that didn't get hit. Two out of the squad died. Smith the squad leader and Colter. Four were wounded bad enough to be evacuated and the other two just caught a little bit of scrap metal."

"Most of the casualties came from mortar. If it hadn't been for these mortars, I believe our company would have taken Hill 881. As it was we got kicked off the hill. Then Kilo of 3-8 and we got kicked off the hill. Then when we were being heli-lifted off the hill, I guess that was the end of it. I don't know how they did."

"THE ACTION took place west of Khe Sanh. One guy in the company said there were so many books on the other side of the hill that they were just standing there watching the fighting. I guess that was the end of it. I don't know how they did."

Later a letter from Danny said the company would be out of the fighting while it was reorganized with new men. He also reported that the surviving members of his squad were writing a report of the fight on Hill 881 to send to the parents of Smith and Colter for whom the war was over.

DOCTOR SAYS

Psoriasis

W.G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q - Is psoriasis inherited? Will it come on my face? Will it come on my face? Will it come on my face?

A - Although some authorities have believed psoriasis to be hereditary, this has never been proved. The cause is unknown. There is no associated swelling of the lymph nodes unless the lesions become infected. The disease is never fatal but it may involve the joints (psoriatic arthritis).

Q - I have psoriasis in my scalp. Would it hurt for me to get a permanent wave?

A - If your scalp involvement is mild, a permanent wave is safe. If it is severe, wave may aggravate it. To be safe you should check with a skin specialist.

Q - Our daughter, 10, has psoriasis. Is it contagious in the contact type?

A - The lesions of psoriasis rarely occur in the scalp stage unless, of course, the scales are forcibly removed. In this case, the raw surface may become secondarily infected. In any event, the psoriasis itself is not contagious.

cutting pieces from second layer. After a few of these pieces are served, return to first or bottom layer and begin cutting again. Continue in this manner, alternating between first and second layers. 4. If you wish to keep top layer for first anniversary, use sterling knife and cake server.

How to Bake and Cut 'It

Traditionally, the wedding cake knife is decorated with white satin ribbon or a small cluster of white flowers. The bride holds the knife in her right hand, and the groom, standing back and slightly to the right, places his right hand over her right hand. The first slice is cut from the first or bottom layer. After the bride and groom have shared it, the cutting turned over to the caterer, a waiter or a friend, and all guests are served.

Combine all ingredients in a large bowl of electric mixer and mix until smooth and creamy. Cover sides and top of each layer with an even layer of frosting, and spoon remaining frosting into pastry bag for decorating. If you'd rather not attempt anything more ambitious than frosting garlands or edgings, Gumdrops

It's Up to the Hostess

Showers Come In All Sizes And Flavors

BY BETTY ANSLIE

An April shower may be a little too early for some June brides, but the May flowers can be used anytime to decorate a shower table.

It's the showers held for the bride that help to furnish the kitchen, bathroom, bedroom. Fill empty drawers and cupboards and add personal items to the bride's wardrobe, but keep the number of showers and guests list reasonable in other words don't be greedy.

Showers come in all sizes and themes—simple or elaborate. The invitation says the type of shower. Is it for close acquaintances, kitchen utensils and gadgets, bath items, linens, cookbooks and recipes or special ingredients, dish accessories and appliers, paper supplies, lingerie, china or crystal. A shower can be held just any time, a brunch, luncheon, tea, buffet supper or dinner.

DID YOU KNOW it is perfectly proper these days to invite men to an evening shower for the engaged couple? Here keep gifts important to the groom and something special for the bride. A bride's gift is always scarce, never funny.

When sending the invitations you might mention a favorite color of the future bride or colors she's selected for bath, kitchen etc. If you've decided on giving a mechanical shower it helps the gift giver on her selection.

THE WHOLE shower naturally revolves around the gifts, so make the presentation of them attractive or unusual. Some showers I've been to have borrowed a grocery cart and tied ribbons on the handles others have placed the gifts on a card table or two, with a paper umbrella over them. Some use a large laundry basket or clothes hamper gift. These can also be decorated, possibly a corsage for the guest of honor could be fastened to the gift container.

Don't forget to assign a couple of shower guests to help the bride-to-be with her ribbons and bows. A paper plate with a hole cut in the center is most often used to thread the bows and ribbons through the ribbon. The bride has a collection bouquet of ribbons to tie to her string book. Also have scissors with a large white basket which could be emptied of paper and given to the bride to carry home her lot.

A miscellaneous shower could have a different gift presentation by placing presents in the room where they'd be used—kitchen items in the kitchen etc. Then there is always the ribbon guide to her presents—where a big bow or perhaps the corsage for the guest of honor has a long ribbon which winds here and there through the house and leads to the gifts one by one. Or an inflated balloon attached to the hidden gifts can help the bride locate them. A-ROUND-THE-CLOCK.

shower has guests bringing items mainly used at certain hours of the day. Each guest is given a certain time and has her gift accordingly, she is also asked to write a poem to go with her gift—she adds the poem for her husband.

One shower I went to the bride was handed a ball of colored string and the wandered around winding up the string finding gifts that were attached here and there.

My mother used to tell of a shower popular when she was a young girl. Each guest was given a yard of kitchen dish towel and needles and colored thread. Each one embroidered something on the towel and added their initials for remembrance.

ANOTHER rather unusual shower I've attended is a kitchen shower where a gadget for preparing your favorite recipe plus a keepable ingredient to go into the recipe is the gift. Your favorite is also written on a file card to fit the recipe box you as hostess give to the future bride.

Stick to party masks for your party accessories, set an example with your gifts invitingly and go all out with the gift. All gifts have to suit and what's a party without special food. After you as hostess get these moving just sit back and let the gifts take over—game needn't be played.

It will be a fun evening of gifts, good food and plenty of chatter.

Eating Out In Elegance

BY SONIA JOHNSON

Quiet elegance in the grand manner makes The Pyrennees stand out for that esthetic place to dine out. Located just north of the Old Orchard shopping center on Skokie Boulevard. For those that remember, it's the old Sully's building that was pretty elegant back a few years.

Calvin Adams, owner and operator, purchased the property about five years ago and has completely redone everything. Its name, The Pyrennees, is taken from the mountain range that extends along the French-Spanish border, and the decor is a combination of design, artifice and objects from the two countries.

A magnificent Baccarat crystal chandelier with silver findings hangs in the Versailles room, where the chain is Louis XV styling and the carpeting Aubusson design. Florentine gilt sconces line the walls and shield the light glow for light and beauty. Swags of bright, gold-fringed silk drape the windows and the matted is copied from one in the Hotel de Chantellerie in Paris which dates back to 1770. The huge old buffet, from a castle in Germany, is constructed of several woods and intricately hand carved.

teacher, and speaks with an interesting French accent. He recently completed an engagement with The Chateau LaSalle. His repertoire is extensive and varied and his music is most enjoyable.

He got carried away with decor, but in our travels we have seen more objects of art than one finds in a museum. What has a fascinating history, and their acquisition is sometimes even more interesting.

ACTUALLY, the basic commodity at The Pyrennees is not atmosphere. It is truly the excellent food.

Adams suggested we have the five-course Gourmet Dinner. You start at the appetizer buffet by helping yourself to relishes. A Quiche Lorraine (bacon-cheese tart) came next. It was different and very tasty. Coney Island Clam Chowder, hot and flavorful, is followed by a tossed green salad with a delicious Green Goddess dressing. The main course was braised T-bone beef with truffled, drawn butter, broiled Parmesan tomatoes and French fries.

Somewhat I never got to that dessert, but the selection was there. My flight with the hollow leg managed appetizer with the gold plate. He always has room for popular demand. The Marine Dining room is enjoying a most successful comeback.

On the money side, an old friend, Jan Scoby and her Trio group are going to appear at the Yacht Club starting June 11. They will alternate each evening with the Tony Bala group.

A Garage to be Proud of - Now

The prideful home owner who discovered that the passing public was looking into his open garage and seeing (left) this chaotic scene decided to clean up the mess and organize his walls for storage. The transformation (right) finds order achieved through the use of prefabricated Patterned Peg-Board on which heavy as well as light storage items are hung neatly within reach but out of the way. He's no longer ashamed to leave his garage door open. The factory-finished panels have a pattern like monk's cloth. Requiring no painting they're kept clean by occasional damp-rinsing. The heavy-duty panels and fixtures are available at lumber and building materials dealers.

"What a beautiful home and yard! They must be discriminating people."

"Well, maybe so, but did you see the inside of their garage? It's a mess of junk, toys and tools scattered all over."

This typical comment shows that American people do take notice of appearance and also that many home owners are careless about the inside look of their garages, comments John Concord, home improvement consultant for Masonite Corporation.

"With the garage door standing open all day, the interior appearance can add to the general attractiveness of a home or it can be like a sore thumb and be the one thing that's remembered," he comments.

This common problem can be overcome with small cost and effort. Here's the formula suggested by the home improvement consultant:

CLEAN OUT the garage, disposing of the junk and deciding what should remain.

LINE THE exposed studs (themselves an eyesore) with Patterned Peg-Board, which is prefabricated in an attractive monk's cloth pattern that can be wiped clean with a damp cloth. This quarter-inch-thick hardboard has the strength to hold anything two men can lift into place, including power mower, lawn roller and heavy cans of paint.

ORGANIZE THE walls by installing Peg-Board hanging fixtures on which to store garden tools and equipment, cut-off season outdoor toys, sports equipment and a variety of other objects that used to hang on nails or lie on the floor as a safety hazard.

"The combination of a good looking, prefabricated perforated paneling with a large variety of hanging fixtures provides organized storage within easy reach, but best of all, it spruces up the inside of a garage and gives home owners another reason to be proud of their home," Concord declares.

Habitat 67, a Concrete Dream

MONTREAL, Canada — Sitting on a man-made spit of land directly across from the docks of this bilingual city is a 12-story haphazard of gray concrete — testimony to the naivete of youth.

It is Habitat 67 on Cite du Havre. The fact that the modular self-contained city of 114 units stands as it is a sign to its beaming creator, Moshe Safdie, 29, that utopian living is possible.

Little Jack Horner couldn't have hidden his pride in his coup as well as Safdie did recently.

"I ADMIT THAT if I had been an architect for 20 years before I tried the experiment of Habitat, I would have been frightened to undertake it. At that age you reject things others say you cannot do."

Safdie, dressed in an olive corduroy suit and desert boots, fingered a knit tie and added, "I had no idea of the complexities of getting this done when I tackled it four years ago. There were political, financial and architectural obstacles. I am a wiser man today."

Habitat's fate even became a mayoralty issue. Only a minuscule section of 1,000 units. Only a minuscule section of 1,000-unit complex is done at a cost of $33½ million (some say $21 million.) Expo 67 visitors will trek through 26 one-to four-bedroom "houses in the sky" which the Canadian home furnishings industry and a magazine derided (not to Safdie's taste) for about $1 million.

Expo officials, some newsmen and Safdie, his wife and two children will live in Habitat, paying from $300 a month for a one-bedroom to $700 for a four-bedroom home.

IN A SENSE, Safdie sees the pueblo

Habitat at the site of Expo 67 is a new experiment in coping with crowded environment. Made of one, two or three precast concrete blocks (17½x28½x10 feet) each home is separate from its neighbor on either side, top or bottom, except for private garden which sits atop a roof. Kitchens and bedrooms are prefabricated and each home has air conditioning, unobstructed view. Water and sewage pipes and electrical wiring are set below pedestrian streets. For kids there are open-air playgrounds.

type design as "a handmade prototype of a mass-produced system." The concrete for the modules was poured into the "factory" on the site and then a self-lagged derrick lifted each 90-ton unit into place. The bathrooms are completely pre-molded fiberglass.

Safdie said he realized many who see Habitat will laugh at the unfamiliar design. Some architects continue to criticize it but "it is currently provoking interest in economic reality, then it serves its purpose."

The structure definitely was a risk and a gamble. It represents to Safdie, though, the good attitude prevailing in his adopted country. He came to Canada from Israel in his teens and drew Habitat as his thesis at the McGill University School of Architecture.

"I don't think Habitat could have been done in the United States," Safdie mused without being sharply critical. "There is something happening in Canada that you can't put your finger on. I saw the pressure on the Expo management to compromise. They were very idealistic and relaxed."

HE ADDED that there is a very vital interaction between Quebec and other Canadian provinces. "It is very exciting in work in it. I find the atmosphere here like parts of California with its polarity and fermentations."

He especially likes the West Coast state where he won the contract to design a student center for San Francisco State College. Students are paying for the building via a loan floated by the school based on their campus dues.

Besides Habitat's design innovations—the units are set like private houses with a pedestrian street, playgrounds and garden terraces—Safdie also pulled another original. He is taping interviews with the construction men. In them he asks their advice or how to make the project more efficient and economical. Their ideas will be used as Habitat grows.

In a way this technique reveals a philosophy he ascribes to the late, great architect Corbusier—"creation is a patient search."

AND IN OUR era architects and community planners must think in terms of a solution to total living, Safdie explained.

"A developer who disturbs public land without considering the security, privacy and freedom of the individual must be controlled. He must be controlled," Safdie stressed, "like we control poison that could kill our children. To succeed one must control oneself to every phase."

This Safdie has done with the birth of Habitat—an experiment in intensive urban living with maximum privacy.

X-Ray for Buildings

X-rays and gamma rays can now be employed by prospective buyers to check internal defects in buildings they wish to purchase. Field x-ray equipment can pierce materials up to 2 1/2 inches thick and cobalt radiation sources can penetrate up to 8 inches. Both rays can detect and record on film internal cracks, seams, holes, lack of bond and internal structural rotting.

A boom in outlays by business for new plant and equipment that began early in 1961 has continued to set new records. Spending has been channelled more toward modernization than expansion.

No Truce in War on Pests

Pest control is vital to preserve your garden's beauty and harvest the fruits and vegetables you want. Proper mixing, application and timing will assure you of control of the thousands of insects and plant diseases that can ruin flowers, shrubs and vegetables.

Pesticide experts emphasize that pesticides are generally the most effective, and in many instances, the only weapons available to fight our insect and plant enemies. When properly used, these materials do not present any dangers. The following precautions should always be observed:

1. Read the container directions and follow them to the letter.
2. Mix pesticide solutions in a well-ventilated area, preferably outdoors.
3. Avoid inhaling sprays or dusts, and never smoke while handling such materials.
4. In order to eliminate drift, use these chemicals where there is little or no wind.
5. Avoid chemical contamination of streams, lakes or ponds.
6. When protecting food crops against pests, observe proper timing and rates of application.

7. Keep weed control chemicals away from flowers, ornamental shrubs, and similar plant materials.

8. Wash with soap and water and change clothing immediately after you spill pesticide on your skin or clothing.

9. If the pesticide is swallowed accidentally, call a physician at once. If splashed in the eyes, flush, then wash with water immediately.

10. And finally, remember to store pesticides in closed, well-labeled containers where children and pets cannot reach them.

'Space With Taste' Popular

At Ramlin Rose Apartments

One of the big factors in the success of Ramlin Rose North Apartments, in Rolling Meadows, continues to be the builders' "space with taste" approach to interior planning.

Jack Tomlinson, Sales Director for the 70-acre garden apartment complex at Routes 53 and 62, just north of the Northwest Tollway, said "Our residents and visitors are quick to praise the interior layout of our units, whether of one, two or three bedrooms. They feel, as we always have, that plenty of space, together with thoughtful room arrangement for easy traffic flow, is essential to relaxed living."

Tomlinson pointed out how the builders' basic "space with taste" design principles were applied even to the overall landscaping and planning of the Ramlin Rose Community. The two-story buildings, employing free use of sweeping balcony and window areas, are widely separated by liberal expanses of green lawn. This leaves plenty of grounds space for children's play parks, off-street parking areas, etc.

THE RENTALS OF Ramlin Rose units start at $140 per month. Regardless of size, interiors fall naturally into two general zones; for family living and for sleeping. Convenience and privacy, with logical traffic flow, are much in evidence.

Tomlinson noted the one-bedroom unit as typical of Ramlin Rose design. Here, Interior view of a typical apartment at Ramlin Rose North in Rolling Meadows. Convenience and practical room arrangement are stressed. New model apartments are on view on Route 62 (Algonquin Road), just west of Route 53 and immediately north of Northwest Tollway.

the deep entryway serves as both traffic center and distributing corridor. Beyond the double guest closet, the family-living room is entered via a wide, open doorway — or visitors may go immediately into the dining-kitchen area. The bathroom is just off the entry corridor, with the bedroom adjacent.

Similarly, two-bedroom layout also stresses comfort and natural traffic flow. In this unit, the living room is semi-open to the dining area and the kitchen. From the point of entry, the distributing corridor leads directly to the bedrooms, the bathroom and a walk-in closet and dressing room.

THE THREE-BEDROOM layout provides more space throughout, but is basically the same roomy two-bedroom plan. Also, in this layout, in which the third bedroom may be used as nursery, study, etc., the Master Bedroom boasts its own private bathroom, providing two full baths for the apartment.

All Ramlin Rose apartments feature wall-to-wall carpeting, baseboard heating, plenty of closet space and wide double windows. Kitchens offer step-saving convenience, Italian Provincial matching cabinets, double sink, oven, range, disposal and refrigerator. Exterior of Ramlin Rose buildings and the grounds are maintained year 'round with individual storage lockers, laundry facilities and private off-street parking provided for residents.

Model apartments are open to public inspection daily except Thursday from noon to 8 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

It is possible for a large family to find a very nice home with 4 BEDROOMS for $25,000 — but hurry! Call us now! — because this home also has carpeting in living & dining rooms — a 2-car garage — 2 BATHS! — and additional features that make it a real buy! Arlington Heights location.

Moved, Stayed in Town

Exemplifying the growing number of Arlington Heights area residents moving over to Berkeley Square are Mr. and Mrs. Terry Tobin and son, Kevin. Although the Tobins desired a new and more modern residence than their former home, Mr. Tobin preferred to remain in the area in proximity to his employment at Allstate Insurance Co., 4 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights. The Tobins, who are shortly expecting a new arrival, found the dramatic L-shaped mid-level Normandy with four bedrooms, 2 baths and large paneled family room, the perfect home to "grow" in.

THE NOT SO OBVIOUS DECORATOR

By Arthur M. Harlow,
Interior Consultant,
Crossroads Interiors

Good interior decorating is the good man, never obvious.

Let's face it, a room that shouts COME BY A DECORATOR isn't desirable. Instead a room should whisper this in the way the American family lives, and don't they have good taste.

Our decorator puts you in the room, we labor long and search far to find just the right things to suit your personality. We even encourage you to keep treasure pieces of family furniture because they reflect your way of life. (Perhaps old favorites need updating) but we try to be tactful in our suggestions. In short, when our designer helps you with your interior decorating, your friends are apt to say "My, your room is beautiful and it looks just like you!"

Come in and see our beautiful room displays. Our decorator will go to your home by appointment. There is no charge or obligation.

Kenroy Realtors to Build $1 Million
Shopping Center in Palatine

A $1,000,000 shopping center containing a two-story retail and office building will be constructed in downtown Palatine. The announcement was made by Ken Tucker, president of Kenroy, Inc. Realtors, developers of the center.

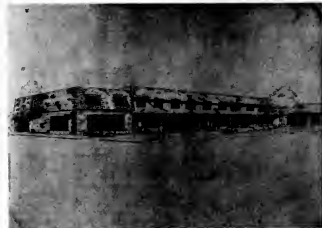

Called "The Village Square," it will be located on the corner of Chicago Avenue and Brockway. Ground is expected to be broken early next fall.

Tucker said the new plaza will be a great help to the community in its efforts to redevelop the downtown area. He revealed that negotiations were already underway for drug, food and family shoe shops.

Approximately 16,500 square feet of shops will be located on the first level, while 15,000 square feet of office space will be available on the second floor. The ultra modern building will be serviced by an elevator. The plaza will have adequate parking facilities for tenants and their customers.

Robert Babbitt and Associates are architects for the development.

Rumsfeld Speaks Out On Near East Crisis

Congressman Donald Rumsfeld (R-Ill.) has expressed his views on the situation in the Middle East in a letter to Sen. Dan Rostenkowski.

"The United States should uphold and reiterate our position on the international character of the Gulf of Aqaba," he said.

"I share the concern of my constituents and believe that the interests of peace will be well-served if the United States make clear its statements here, at the United Nations, and abroad our unwavering opposition to the use of threat or force and our commitment to the integrity of Israel as a free and independent state," he said.

Commenting on the controversy surrounding the decision of the United Arab Republic to declare a blockade against Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba, Rumsfeld recalled the United States position at this time of the Suez crisis in 1956-57, that the Gulf of Aqaba is international.

"The United States should uphold and reiterate our position on the international character of the Gulf of Aqaba," he said.

"I share the concern of my constituents and believe that the interests of peace will be well-served if the United States make clear its statements here, at the United Nations, and abroad our unwavering opposition to the use of threat or force and our commitment to the integrity of Israel as a free and independent state," he said.

More Moving Needed

By Catherine O'Donnell

The Arlington Heights Beautification Committee started to work quietly early in the season. They are the last of the railroad ties that had been driven along the right of way taken away. They also saw a few new billboards go up. Unattended they planed and cut and went along the highway with crab, burdock and low growing weeds.

It was beginning to look as if real progress was being made especially when the Junior Women's Club volunteered to landscape and restore the appearance of the train station.

Right now, it looks as if all of the planning the ABC has done is to spruce the weeds around the station.

Some of the members are so discouraged that they feel like going out and pulling the weeds themselves.

The women who told about the village or the park district as a public service will send out their moves over and chop down the weeds and save the trees and the shrubbery.

There are also dead trees lying between Waterman and Arlington Heights Road. They would make good firewood for someone's fireplace.

The group now has their list of a hundred items for organization. The only thing they need besides a good meeting place is money. They are asking the local clubs, businesses and residents who would like to see the highway a thing of beauty will be glad to contribute.

The officers for the ABC are President Gail Krohn, Vice-President Bill Tobin, Secretary Fran Hart and Treasurer Frank Currier.

Two year old Chris Bone, son of Dave and Jan Bone of Morris in Palestine, is proud to learn that he has had a literary effort published. That would be a letter to the editor of the latest issue of Reclamation Era, a publication of the

BY RONIA JOHNSON

Glenn Swanson is back in her home town appearing in "The Inkwell," "Reprieve" at the Lyman Theatre. The play, originally titled "The Inkwell," was written by Glenn Swanson five years ago and still starting to run.

When Chuck Brock, professor, asked her for an engagement at the Lyman Theatre, she was happy, "it's a natural."

So Kennedy was contacted and with a bit of updating and revising we have "The Inkwell."

Kennedy's "Goochy Ghost," which appeared at the Lyman last year, featuring Jane Alyson, was most enjoyable. But, "Reprieve" has crisp lines with more humor. He not only writes the script but usually writes himself a good part, and in this instance also directed the play.

THE STORY LINE: Lisa Lawrence, a movie star of many years fame, comes home for a visit. It's a small town, and her daughter and husband now occupy the family home.

Lisa is seeking something that she feels she left behind back. Something as simple as a relationship with her first son, who in the meantime married a nurse and settled in the town's two finest homes.

On meeting the two and Lisa's husband, she is disappointed. She will have to give up her first son, who is a doctor and he will have to sacrifice his top-standing, unblemished, but severely comfortable marriage.

In the office is Sylvester Johnson, many years friend,
